Introduction

This document contains guidance for how you may use Gartner trademarks correctly and compliantly. For questions regarding this document, please submit a content compliance request.
The Gartner logo

The Gartner logo is one of the most important expressions of our brand and the focal point for our identity.

Correct application of the logo is essential to maintain the integrity of the Gartner brand identity.

Our logo is composed of two elements: The Gartner wordmark and the registration mark. These elements and their relationship must never be altered or modified in any way. The proportions are shown on this page.

Trademark legal lines must appear with our logo when promoting Gartner materials in your outbound emails or website registration page.

The legal lines for the Gartner trademark are:

Gartner is a registered trademark and service mark of Gartner, Inc. and/or its affiliates in the U.S. and internationally, and is used herein with permission. All rights reserved.
The Gartner logo

Apply the logo correctly every time you use it.
The Gartner logo should appear in the New Gartner Blue or knocked-out to white if used over a dark background.

SIZE
- Digital: 100 pixels (px) wide minimum (mobile)
- Print: 1.25” (31.75 mm) wide minimum

SPACE
Maintain clear space equal to the height of the G in Gartner around the logo.

COLOR AND USE
Over solid color or an image, the Gartner logo may appear in white. When placing the logo over an image, be sure the surrounding area does not distract from or interact with the logo.

PLACEMENT
- In digital applications, position the logo top left (preferred) or right, minimally 20px inset from the edge.
- In print applications, position the logo bottom right with a minimum 5” (12.7 mm) margin. Exceptions:
  - For pieces that go in a collateral rack, the logo can appear at top left or right.
The Gartner logo: Don’ts

Don’t use the logo in an accent or any color other than New Gartner Blue or white.

Don’t lock typography, including the names of Gartner offerings, to the logo. Only preapproved instances of logo lock-ups are allowed. Please contact brand@gartner.com if you have questions.

Don’t try to recreate the logo in type. The logo is a custom-drawn wordmark and can’t be replicated with a font.

Don’t place a focus frame around the logo or place the logo in a holding shape.

Don’t add effects like drop shadows, bevels or gradients to the logo.

Don’t place symbols, icons, illustrations or other logos near the Gartner logo.
The Gartner logo: Don’ts

Don’t use the Gartner logo in as part of a phrase, sentence or paragraph.

Don’t use the Gartner G on its own instead of using the Gartner logo. Only in specific instances, such as our website favicon, is the G used solo, and it’s always accompanied by the full logo (on the website or social media profile page).

When using the logo over photography, don’t place the logo over an area that is busy or that may obscure the logo.

Don’t place the logo vertically unless it’s being used on a book spine.

When using external third-party logos in the presence of the Gartner logo, don’t place the third-party logo in close proximity to or locked up with the Gartner logo.

Don’t stretch the logo horizontally or vertically. Always maintain the logo’s original proportions.
Use in reprints

Reprints are published Gartner materials, in their original format, that help you validate your messages and strengthen your relationships with client decision makers. Use of the Gartner logo, which must be reviewed and approved by Gartner, may be included in these promotional materials, including without limitation, when it is used to promote an authorized reprint:

- Email campaigns
- Website registration pages
- Website banners or icons
- Corporate blogs
- Corporate social media (Facebook, LinkedIn, etc.)
- Booth signage

No

The Gartner logo should appear secondary to your logo so it doesn’t appear as though the email is coming from Gartner or is entirely Gartner content. Our logo should be positioned near our content with appropriate clear space.

Yes

This is a preferred treatment for using our logo and content in your email. Our content is contained in a shaded box, along with our logo and legal lines, so it is very clear what portion of the email is relates to Gartner content.
Use in reprints

Additional example

Here the Gartner logo sits above Gartner content on another party’s website. It is clear what content is associated with Gartner. All required disclaimers appear on the page that hyperlinks from the “Download Report” button. This is acceptable use of the logo.
Custom newsletters are electronic newsletters that feature objective Gartner research and your company messages. The Gartner logo, which must be reviewed and approved by Gartner, may be included in these promotional materials:

- Email campaigns
- Website registration pages
- Website banners or icons
- Corporate blogs
- Corporate social media (Facebook, LinkedIn, etc.)
Use in custom newsletters

Additional example

In this example, there is not enough clear space around the logo and it is not clear to what the logo is connected.

The Gartner logo should only be used alongside Gartner content. In this context it may be used within the gray box that features Gartner content with proper clear space.
Use in Gartner webcasts

Gartner webcasts are custom-designed multimedia programs that include interviews with a featured Gartner expert, your company leadership team and customer testimonials.

Use of the Gartner logo, which must be reviewed and approved by Gartner, may be included in these promotional materials:

- Email campaigns
- Website registration pages
- Website banners or icons
- Corporate blogs
- Corporate social media (Facebook, LinkedIn, etc.)

No

Logo use in this example makes it appear as though both speakers are from Gartner. This logo is also used improperly as it’s being coupled with additional content.

Yes

Gartner logo correctly used in association with a Gartner expert.
Use in expert speaking engagements

When a Gartner expert is attending a speaking engagement, you may use the Gartner logo to promote the event. Our logo must appear near the speaker’s name and title, as shown in this example.

In this email example promoting Gartner’s participation in a webcast, the Gartner logo is displayed with Gartner content and is secondary to your logo.
Gartner Cool Vendor badge

Any references to the Gartner Cool Vendor designation must prominently include the full report citation and following legal lines within the materials in which the references appear with the badge.
